Daily Staff Photo

INDIAN RETURNS — A weather vane fashioned after an ancient Indian returned yesterday to its perch atop the Shenandoah County Courthouse in Woodstock. The Indian and its wrought-iron base were repaired and given a new coat of paint by the Broadway Metal Works, Inc., after being removed on Sept. 11. The weather vane has stood over the courthouse for more than 40 years, and had to be repaired due to rust and apparent bullet holes.